EC Regulation 1907/2006 concerning the registration, evaluation, authorization and restriction of chemicals (REACH)

T.E.R. Tecno Elettrica Ravasi S.r.l. a socio unico is classified, according to EC Regulation 1907/2006, as a downstream user, as is neither a producer nor an importer of chemical products. Article 33 of the REACH Regulation applies to suppliers of articles on European territory, which states that each supplier of an article containing a substance in the Candidate list (<https://echa.europa.eu/it/candidate-list-table>) in concentrations higher than 0.1% w/w must provide the recipient of the article or a consumer with relevant security information in his possession. Being certified according to ISO 9001: 2015 and ISO 14001: 2015 standards, TER is constantly in contact with its suppliers, to ensure that the products placed on the market comply with Directives and mandatory Standards.

TER, on the basis of the information collected, declares that its articles comply with the REACH Directive; some products, such as limit switches and pendant control stations, may contain traces of lead (CAS-No. 7439-92-1) in the potentiometers and cable glands in quantities less than 0.1% w/w. When purchased individually or as spare parts, the following items may contain substances above the 0.1% w/w threshold:

- PRVV9037LA (CAS-No. 7439-92-1)
- PRPS1075PE (CAS-No. 7439-92-1)

TER is committed to reducing as much as possible the use of SVHC substances (substances on the Candidate list), raising awareness and constantly monitoring its suppliers. TER provides this declaration on the basis of the best knowledge and information received from its suppliers, not carrying out specific checks on raw materials and on the product supplied.
